the circumstances under which these pages came to be written are rather peculiar i am in favor of church unity and i had thought of writing something that would tend to bring the churches into closer harmony i am persuaded that their unity of doctrine is greater than is usually supposed i endeavored to make this apparent by citing a long list of doctrines on which the churches tacitly agree but in all faithfulness i had to recognize a striking difference of opinion when i came to speak of the doctrine of future punishment on this profound question i had to recognize that there are honest differences of opinion these could not be summarily dismissed by a hasty yea or nay there are three views that are entertained which may be expressed thus extinction restoration endless suffering not only do these different views prevail among different churches they prevail also among individuals in all the churches in fact it would be hard to find a thoughtful church of any name in which each of these views is not represented while there is this diversity of view there ought surely to be toleration it is a profound subject i am very conscious of that yet i think there may be ultimate harmony if we are only candid enough to lay aside all prejudice and give the matter our serious and impartial consideration and surely it is worthy of that in my view there is a right conception of the matter which if generally entertained would go far to lift a dark shadow from the heart of the world for myself i may say that i was brought up in an orthodox church that professes to believe in endless suffering i had not even at a mature age examined that doctrine critically in fact i shrunk from examining it i think most people do who professedly accept it it is the doctrine of the church and the easiest way is to assume that it is all right if it was formulated by our learned and pious ancestors the usual idea is that it s good enough for us a thoughtful mind however could not but recognize that there is a serious difference on this question in different churches that are admitted to be evangelical not only that but there is a difference between thoughtful men in the same church hence i was led to adopt and to state my own views here the arguments that i was thus compelled to use expanded far beyond my expectation then i recognized that a plea for unity along with the advocacy of a contested vital doctrine do not hang well together moreover the space that i felt compelled to give to this doctrinal defense induced me to cut it loose from my plea for unity and present the matter separately the overcoming of death is a serious undertaking because death is a part of the nature one's being and therefore not what it appears to be when death is reconciled with life it becomes a means of interdimensional travel we realize that it wasn't there in the first place therefore the overcoming of death is to take place within one's present consciousness for death is the counterpart of life in the first place therefore the resurrection unto life is from the death that is hidden in life it is the dead that appear to be living that are resurrected unto life death is something that is a part of one's present consciousness not something off somewhere in the so called afterlife the resurrection of the dead is unto conscious life or immortality or back into the realm of unconscious death for life and death occupy the same space it is a matter of seeing death as it is not just as it appears to be in that death is not what it appears to be the overcoming of death is not what it appears to be therefore it is a real possibility it can be realized within ones lifetime the overcoming of death is the means of bringing the realization of conscious immortality to the awareness of ones present consciousness in this lifetime it reveals why it is that losing life is finding it and how it is that it is the dead that are living that hear the voice of the son of god and are resurrected from the dead god s final victory addresses the ongoing controversy concerning which doctrine is more defensible the doctrine of hell or the doctrine of universal salvation would the just and loving god of traditional christianity ever cause or allow some creatures to endure hell that is eternal alienation from both god and the blessed many think the answer is yes some defend this answer by arguing that god is not only loving but also just and that eternal damnation is sometimes the only way god can meet the demands of justice with respect to sin others argue that out of respect for creatures god affords them the freedom to choose their destiny and some choose eternal alienation from god god s final victory examines the presuppositions underlying both lines of argument and finds that once understood in their most defensible form they offer good reason to suppose god would save all if he could and no compelling reason to suppose that he would or could not as such even conservative christians should believe in universal salvation
